

A local guide at Turtle Mountain in the Iwokrama Forest in Guyana.

tuesday 2nd december 2008

1pm-3pm

room: swan

02.12.08

© simon rawles, friends of the earth

critical analysis of REDD

international finance, human rights and false promises of carbon markets

joint side event | by Global Forest Coalition, International Alliance of Indigenous and Tribal Peoples of Tropical Forests and Friends of the Earth International

The continuation of destructive logging and neglect of customary rights demands a critical analysis of the impact of proposed REDD policies and trading mechanisms, contemporary experiences of 'forest conservation' and World Bank influenced REDD-iness funds on Indigenous rights and forest protection.

Estebancio Castro Diaz: representative from Kuna Yala Nation, Panama

Mina Setra: Indigenous Peoples Alliance of the Archipelago (AMAN)

Miguel Lovera: Global Forest Coalition

Kittisak Rattanakrajangsri: International Alliance of Indigenous and Tribal Peoples of Tropical Forests

Kate Horner: Friends of the Earth US

INTERNATIONAL ALLIANCE OF INDIGENOUS AND TRIBAL PEOPLES OF TROPICAL FORESTS

